Up and Down: Richberg and Insull, Two Men Who Crossed Swords

WASHINGTON — Two decades ago in Chicago, a young lawyer who had built up a lucrative practice with Big Business, suddenly got disgusted with it all and became the champion of the underdog.

He became the attorney for labor unions and other lost causes. As special counsel for the city of Chicago he launched a virulent attack upon the biggest utility magnate in the Midwest—a man who had built an opera house, endowed Chicago charities, held that city in the hollow of his hand.

The young lawyer was Donald Richberg. The big magnate was Samuel Insull. Richberg was convicted of Insull's Peoples Gas Light and Coke Company was overcharging its consumers by millions of dollars annually. On behalf of the city he brought suit.

From that point on Richberg's life became hell. Insull showed the same ingenuity in fighting him that he showed in his recent attempts to escape the arm of justice.

The young lawyer was shadowed by private detectives. Attempts were made to frame him with women. For one year his pay and all expenses of the law suit were held up. He had to borrow money to push the case. Big Bill Thompson, then mayor, and whose campaign received a $100,000 contribution from Insull, attempted to discharge him. The city police confessed that they expected he was going to be "rubbed out."

In the end the young lawyer won his case.

How completely he won it, however, even he did not then realize. For while Sam Insull was spirited from a lonely voyage of exile to a mysterious telephone call shortly after the millionaire was spirited away.

"The telephone at Gettle's rancho rang and I answered it," Hitchen said. "A woman asked to speak to Mr. Gettle. I told her he was not there. She said she wanted to know whether he had received his magazine. Then the connection was broken. It was a local call."

SEEN IN AUTOMOBILE

Authorities connected the telephone call directly with an earlier report that a woman had been parked in an automobile outside the Gettle estate a few hours before the kidnapping, and that the woman had asked pertinent questions about Gettle and his family.

Noon meanwhile had announced through the newspapers their readiness to meet the kidnappers' terms.

"We want Mr. Gettle back alive immediately. His invalid wife's condition is grave. For her sake we ask his abductors to communicate with me quickly."

Simultaneously through the medium of a typewritten note left at Los Angeles newspaper offices for publication friends of the victim announced they would meet terms of any offer that would be dictated over Gettle's signature.

The note read:

"If the abductors of W. F. Gettle will get in touch with me, my identification can be obtained from Mr. Gettle. He is the only man

UNEMPLOYED MEN SHOULD REGISTER

Many To Be Given Work On Muskingum Project; Use Own Men First.

COSHOCOTON, May 11.—A general call for laborers on the federal government's $35,000,000 Muskingum watershed control project will be made about August 1, C. C. Chambers, president of the Dayton-Morgan Engineering Co., said here today.

All laborers will be hired through the National Reemployment Service and workers living in the 16 counties included in the watershed district will be given first preference, NRS attaches have stated.

In the meantime, a vanguard of the thousands expected to obtain employment for years in the Muskingum area, is now at work making surveys, exploring dam sites and preparing the final plans for the project.

H. R. Justice, director of the Ohio Reemployment Service, pointed out that workers outside of the Muskingum area, who wish to obtain employment on the project, should register in the NRS office of their own community.

50-50

Senator Bob Wagner has agreed to a 50-50 split on his bitterly contested Labor Disputes bill.

In a last hope to obtain some sort of labor legislation he has given ground on one of the two major provisions of his original measure.

They were: (1) outlawing of company unions; (2) majority rule to control membership on workers' representation committee.

WIFE IN PLEA FOR GETTLE'S RETURN HOME

Offers Any Price for Safety of Abducted California Man

ACTIVITY IN SEEN

Believe Kidnapers May Be Eastern Yegg

LOS ANGELES, May 11.—(INS) —"Do anything you can — pay anything — but bring him back to me."

These were the instructions today of the wife of William F. Gettle, 47, retired millionaire oil and chain store executive, to his associates who desperately sought a contact with the two masked abductors who kidnaped him from his $250,000 Arcadia estate early yesterday at the height of a gay swimming pool party.

Mrs. Gettle offered a fortune as ransom to her husband's kidnapers.

"Name your price," was the word broadcast by Gettle's associates to the kidnapers.

ORGANIZED GANG?

Because a small but high powered automobile with Illinois license plates had been seen in the vicinity of Gettle's lavish estate for several days officers were inclined to the belief that the abduction was carefully planned and perpetrated by a well organized gang of eastern kidnapers.

"Name your price," was the word broadcast by Gettle's associates to the kidnapers.

Another belief was that a "mystery woman" headed the gang that carried out the kidnapping plot.

A hint of the identity of the adductors came during the night when Ernest E. Noon, Gettle's attorney, appointed as ransom intermediary, raced to an unannounced destination and returned in thirty minutes with the statement:

"I have received some very interesting information regarding the possible identity of the kidnapers. We will follow our information."

Noon refused to amplify his statement.

The shadowy outline of a woman was injected into the case when Albert Hitchen, a guest at the party when the kidnapping occurred, disclosed that he had received a mysterious telephone call shortly after the millionaire was spirited away.

"The telephone at Gettle's rancho rang and I answered it," Hitchen said. "A woman asked to speak to Mr. Gettle. I told her he was not there. She said she wanted to know whether he had received his magazine. Then the connection was broken. It was a local call."

Sequel to Dillinger Escape

City Teachers Adopt Constitution; Make Plans For Three Functions

A constitution was adopted and plans were made for several functions when the Circleville City Teachers' association met at the high school Thursday evening. All teachers of the city were present.

The constitution adopted by the teachers was prepared and presented by the executive committee comprised of Frank Fischer, president; Kenneth Lea, vice president; Florence Brown, secretary, and Ethel Stein, treasurer.

The teachers will have a picnic at "Mr. Daley's Ash Cave" Thursday evening, May 17 with Virgil Cress, chairman of the committee on arrangements. Other members of the committee are Miss Lucile Neuding, Miss Katherine Kirkpatrick, Kenneth Lea, and Roy Bowen.

An all-day session will be conducted on the second Saturday of the school year in September. Outside speakers augmented by local speakers will provide the program with all county teachers to be invited as guests.

A picnic for all city teachers was approved for the first week of school.

The purposes of the organization, according to its constitution, are: 1. To give us a chance to meet and enjoy each other; 2. To unite more closely for professional as well as social purposes; 3. To study projects systematically which concern us jointly and which may tend to make our school system a better one; 4. To secure advancement in the direction of a sane progressive modern school from both within and without our own ranks; 5. To develop a closer relationship and a better understanding between the schools and the public concerning educational problems.

AUTOS CRASH, MADDEN HURT

Wreck Happens Near Walnut Twp School; Local Man Has Leg Broken

William Madden, 64, 123 E. Mill-st., was a patient in Berger hospital, Friday, suffering from a fractured right leg at the knee which he received in a collision with the automobile of Clayton Weaver, Walnut-twp, Thursday afternoon.

The accident happened near the Walnut-twp school where Madden was going to return several school teachers to this city.

He was traveling toward the school after turning off the Walnut creek-pk while Weaver, a brother of Attorney Harry B. Weaver, this city, was traveling toward the Walnut creek-pk.

Both automobiles were badly damaged.

Madden was taken to the hospital at 5:30 p. m. where he is under the care of Dr. H. D. Jackson.

HOWARD HALL POST PASSES ITS QUOTA

Numerous Legion Posts in District Fall Behind Expected Number

Howard Hall post, American Legion is one of the "honor posts" of the Ohio department with its membership quota oversubscribed at this time.

The post's quota for 1934 was 113 members; it now has 116.

Arch post, New Holland, Pickaway-co's second Legion organization, is behind its quota with 39 needed and only 20 enrolled.

The district, No. 7, including Adams, Fayette, Highland, Lawrence, Pickaway, Pike, Ross, and Scioto-cos, is behind in its quota 2,099 members needed and only 1,647 enrolled.

Washington C. H. post has 244 needed only 202, Coal Grove, Lawrence-co, 36 needed only 24, and Portsmouth No. 471, needing 16 and having 37 are the only cities in the district besides Circleville passing its quota. West Union, Winchester, Manchester, Jeffersonville, Hillsboro, Greenfield, Ironton, New Holland, Waverly, Piketon, two Portsmouth posts and Lucasville are behind their programs.

WARD RELEASED

Creed Ward, Ashville, arrested for taking fish with a hatchet, was ordered released from the county jail, Thursday, by Conservation Commissioner William Reinhart upon payment of the costs of the case. He was fined $25 and costs by Squire Eveland.

GRIFFEY RELEASED

Robert Griffey, W. Main-st., arrested for assault and battery of William Heister, was released from custody by Mayor W. B. Cady after he heard testimony in the case Friday morning.

Griffey was arrested at 1 a. m. Friday by Officer Karl Radcliff.

DR. LILLY BETTER

After several weeks of absence due to illness Dr. E. J. Lilly, 105 1/2 W. Main-st., is now at his office.

His suite of rooms has been refitted and refurbished.

Prayers Offered in Brooklyn Streets for Infant Twins; Crisis Believed Near

NEW YORK, May 11.—The prayers of neighbors and heroic work by police emergency squads who manned oxygen inhalators for 48 consecutive hours, were insufficient to save the life of one of the 6-months-old pneumonia stricken sons of Peter Barry, Brooklyn unemployed clerk.

Roy, the weaker of the pair, died at an early hour today, while Ross gained steadily in strength and is now believed to be past the danger point.

NEW YORK, May 11.—At various intervals last night men and women and a few children stopped in front of the home of Mr. and Mrs. Peter Barry in the Park Slope district of Brooklyn.

The women, unashamed and completely oblivious to the stares of passersby, dropped to their knees. The men took off their hats and stood with their eyes turned downward. Some of the children crossed themselves, while others glanced appealingly heavenward.

It was the first time in the memory of the oldest Brooklyn

FIRES DAMAGE TIMBER LANDS OF SOUTH OHIO

Forest Army Youths Prevent Greater Loss to Virgin Timber

MORE RAIN NEEDED

Forester Says Loss Will Amount to $25,000

By International News Service

Heightening the menace of forest, grass and peat fires, drought resumed its grim campaign of crop destruction today in Ohio and the parched middle western agricultural states where weather forecasters offered no immediate hope of general rainfall.

Dust storms and scattered heavy rains in the state yesterday brought some measure of relief in cooler weather but the respite was expected to be short-lived as cloudless skies put to flight any hope for much-needed showers.

Thousands of dollars damage was estimated to have resulted from the fires which broke out in various sections of the state yesterday, eating at large acreages of virgin timber lands and fields of dry grass and stubble.

Heavy rains, which poured down on a dozen counties in the southern section of the state, reaching almost cyclonic proportions in Muskingum-co where numerous houses were unroofed and trees uprooted, aided volunteer firefighters in bringing the flames under control and from spreading to cause wider damage at least for the time being.

The disheartening forecast, however, that no more rain is immediately in sight increased the fire hazard today and throughout the state precautions were being taken to guard against the danger.

Yesterday's rains, although welcome, were said to be hardly sufficient to relieve the drought situation and the arid dustladen winds that flew across wide sections

INSULL CITES HIS SEIZURE

Claims Return To United States Illegal; 10 Points Challenge Case.

CHICAGO, May 11.—Samuel Insull, arraigned in federal court here today, challenged the jurisdiction of the court claiming that he was illegally brought back from Turkey by the United States.

In his plea Insull set forth that the manner in which the Turks seized him in Istanbul harbor and turned him over to the American authorities was in violation of law. He contended, therefore, that he was not properly before the court.

Insull also contended that the court should take no further cognizance of the indictments — one charging fraudulent use of the mails and the other violation of the national bankruptcy act.

Insull's plea contained ten points challenging the legality of his arrest. The plea was filed by his attorney, Floyd E. Thompson.

The premise of the plea was that in view of the "illegal" seizure of the 74-year-old utility magnate the courts have no jurisdiction over him.

ARRAIGN YOUTHFUL ROBBERS ON MONDAY

Leland McDaniels and Howard Douglas, arrested in Columbus for robbery of the Good Hope, Fayette-co bank last Saturday, will be arraigned Monday before Judge H. M. Rankin.

If they plead guilty sentence will be passed immediately. Both have allegedly confessed the robbery in which $567 was stolen. More than $500 of the money was recovered.

The youths are being kept under close guard at the county jail.

BOWMAN INDICTED

Ohio's Chance To Regain Bandit Gone; Faces Trial For Life.

COLUMBUS, May 11.—Action of the grand jury in Mercer-co, Kentucky, in indicting Neil Bowman, Ohio desperado, for murder, was seen by officials here today as increasing evidence that the outlaw will not come back to Ohio.

"I don't think we will ever have Bowman again," said Darrell S. Jones, Ohio assistant welfare director.

Bowman yesterday was indicted for the murder of Comer Franklin, 17, whose body was found in Herrington Lake several weeks ago. Bond was fixed at $10,000 by Circuit Judge Kendrick Alcorn.

An attempt will be made to link Bowman with another Kentucky murder, that of George Kaufman, Camp Nelson storekeeper, when the Jessamine-co grand jury begins investigation next month into Kaufman's death. Mercer-co officials expect to try Bowman first.

Bowman escaped from the Lima State Hospital for the Criminal Insane last Christmas Day, and was hunted for months until his recapture in Kentucky. Ohio already has made formal claims upon Kentucky authorities for Bowman's return here in the event that he is not convicted in connection with either of the two killings.

WALNUT-TP WOMAN IS TAKEN FRIDAY

Mrs. Lavina Reinhart, aged 59, widow of Albert F. Reinhart, died of paralysis at her home in Walnut-twp at 5:30 a. m. Friday.

She was a native of Amadaw-twp, Fairfield-co, being born July 3, 1876, a daughter of Thomas and Susan Huffer Young.

She is survived by seven children: Mrs. Noah Snyder, Mrs. Edward Young, Stanley and Oren, of Amadaw; Esther, Bertha, and Glenn at home.

Funeral services will be Sunday at 10 a. m. at the Cedar Hill church with burial in Amadaw-twp cemetery by E. F. Schlegel.

National Hospital Day To Be Observed At Berger Hospital

Miss Ethel Kirchofer, superintendent of Berger hospital, issued an invitation, Friday, to any person who desires to visit the hospital, Saturday. The event marks "National Hospital Day."

This day has been established on the date of the birth of Florence Nightengale.

Berger hospital is one of Circleville's finest institutions and residents of the city should be better acquainted with it and its operation. The grounds have been landscaped, a walk constructed and other improvements have made it one of the city's show places.

Miss Kirchofer and her staff of nurses will guide visitors through the building.

RURAL RELIEF PLAN STUDIED

Livestock and fowls, totalling $5,370 in value may be distributed to 350 rural Pickaway-co families within the next few weeks, in an effort "to get them on their feet" under the Family Recovery Program sponsored nationally. Ernie Weiler, relief commissioner, is working out the plan to be presented for the approval of the county commissioners.

He intends to ask $5,370 from the federal government for the county the families to repay the money by working on county roads, or doing what other work is provided.

Under his schedule 50 horses, 50 cows, 60 pigs and 3,000 chickens will be provided. The cost will be $15.63 per family.

TWO BENEFITS

The county will be benefited, first, by the federal money coming here and, second, by the work from the recipients of the cash.

The co-operation of the county agricultural agent, farm bureau, grange, commissioners and township trustees is essential in investigation of needs of families.

Under the program outlined to Mr. Weiler it is the desire of federal leaders to "create the opportunity to provide plans and assistance to the end that every rural relief family may start a new record of self-support as of May 1 and that on next Thanksgiving day they will have in store fruits of their own labors plenty for the winter, such as garden produce, canned goods, warm clothing and bedding, fuel, wood, coal, chickens, meat and milk. The goal is 25 per cent of your rural families 100 per cent self-supporting; 50 per cent of your rural families 100 per cent self-supporting.

Court News

SNIDER ESTATE

Walter R. Snider, 150 E. Broad-st, Columbus, a son, has been named executor of the estate of the late George W. Snider, S. Court-st. The will requires that he give no bond.

The property is estimated to be worth $10,700, $9,500 of which is real estate. Appraisers are Homer Fullen, John Kirwin and Tom Gilliland.

Mr. Snider's will, written July 5, 1925 and witnessed by C. A. Leist and Fred Nicholas, gives the entire estate to the widow during her lifetime then to the nine children, three sons and six daughters.

MARRIAGE LICENSE

Ralph Hoffman, Jr., 18, Circleville papermaker, and Virginia L. Scott, 17, Circleville. Consent of parents.

STRIKES HINDER OHIO ACTIVITY

By International News Service

Strikes in Ohio today cut off the bread supply in Akron, the gasoline supply in Cleveland, resulted in court action at Mansfield and caused the arrest of approximately 200 pickets at Cincinnati.

These developments were only a cross-section of the highlights of the state's unsettled labor situation.

Many smaller strikes were in progress and the danger of a general strike of organized labor a Toledo has not been completely removed. There also were rumors of a general strike of unionized workers in the steel industry.

FIRE SWEEPS MINE

ATHENS, May 11.—Damage estimated at $100,000 was caused by fire that swept the engine house and electric repair room early today at the No. 1 mine of the Ohio Mining Co., at Jacksonsville, near here.

3 JAILED AS SUSPECTS IN 'CRIME WAVE'

Two Men, Woman Surrender After Indiana House is Attacked

ARSENAL LOCATED

Fostoria, South Vienna Holdups Involved

RICHMOND, Ind., May 11.—Two men and a girl, believed to have participated in the recent bloody bank robberies at Fostoria and South Vienna, O., were arrested by federal agents and police here today who acted on a tip that John Dillinger was with the gang.

No trace, however, was found of Dillinger, and belief was expressed that the notorious Indiana desperado had no connection with the gang here.

Those arrested gave their names as Harry Hopkins, 23, of Jamestown, Ohio, Vernon Taylor, 28, a Thelma Mitchell, 22 both of Springfield, Ohio.

Police here said that Springfield officers would arrive here today to question the prisoners.

The two men also were suspected in the $1,200 holdup of the Farmers' and Merchants' bank at Milford Center, Ohio, on April 17; the $1,200 robbery of the Farmers' bank at Plain City, Ohio, last Saturday, and numerous filling station holdups including one at Plain City, Ohio, April 10 and one at Blanchard, Ohio, April 9.

PRESIDENT SLAIN

In the South Vienna bank robbery the president of the victimized bank was slain.

In the Fostoria holdup on May 3, five persons were shot and $17,000 loot was taken.

The capture was made after eight federal agents and several squads of police virtually besieged a house east of here all night, and fired one shot when one of the occupants sought to leave. The officers threw tear gas bombs into the house when daylight broke and the occupants then surrendered.

A veritable arsenal was found in the house it was learned. Taylor alone had four guns, one of them a German luger pistol that had been rebuilt into a sub-machine gun. He also had a sawed-off shotgun and a Springfield army rifle. In his pockets were found $600 in cash.

An automobile found at the place resembled the one used in the Fostoria bank robbery in which five persons were machine-gunned about ten days ago. Investigation showed the machine was

ORDER COLUMBUS TO CLEAN SCIOTO

COLUMBUS, May 11.—The Ohio Supreme Court today issued a permanent writ of mandamus to compel the mayor and city council of Columbus to comply with an order of the state health department to install an adequate sewage disposal system.

The health department ordered installation of the disposal system to correct and prevent pollution of the Scioto River, into which the sewage now is being dumped.

The supreme court, last Wednesday, sustained the health department's demurred to the answer of the city of Columbus to the mandamus proceedings, but the city was given 20 days in which to file an amended answer.

However, when counsel for the city advised the supreme court today that they did not wish to plead further, the court sent the writ to the Franklin-co sheriff to be served.

ZAENGLEIN HOME

C. F. Zaenglein, popular member of the high school faculty, was removed from Berger hospital to his home, Friday afternoon.

He has been a patient in the hospital, several weeks. Part of that time he was considered serious after being afflicted with blood poisoning.

His condition is now much improved.

Mrs. Hayden Angles and infant son were removed from Berger hospital to their home in Williamsport, Friday.

Rev. Rush Principal Speaker at C. C. Meet

Rev. L. E. Rush, of Columbus, will be the principal speaker when the Chamber of Commerce meets Tuesday at 6:15 p. m. at Hanley's tearoom.

The program will be devoted to Boy Scout work with a demonstration and a report of the one-day financial campaign to be held Friday.

A good attendance is expected.

and closed to fishing for at least a mile above and below the point where the fish are planted.

A consignment of brooder fish for Pickaway-co arrived Thursday, and were liberated in Darby creek, Deer creek, Canal waters in Wayne, Jackson, and Deercreek townships. The consignment consisted of 40 smallmouth, 110 rock bass, and 750 catfish.

COOPERATION ASKED

All fishermen are requested to cooperate with the Division of Conservation in the program for better fishing, by not disturbing the closed areas where fish were planted, until the waters are opened for fishing July 1st. The Division of Conservation has carefully selected and mapped out the waters to be stocked that the breeders may be placed where they will have suitable habitat and bring greatest results in the program for more fish and better fishing in Ohio.

The following local sportsmen assisted State authorities in planting the fish when they arrived: H. E. Betz, Ray Ulm, Fred Tipton, Fred Wing, Harold J. Bowers and a number of others.

Waters closed are: Entire strip of canal water; Darby creek one mile up stream from the iron bridge at Fox Post office and one-fourth of a mile downstream;

Deer creek one mile upstream from the Williamsport bridge and one-fourth of a mile downstream from the bridge.

These propagation waters will be closed until July 1.

And while the rest of us are seeking truth in the book of life the cynics are busy looking for little flaws in the punctuation.

Knapp Was Almost Napping

It was all in fun, of course, but if Carmen Knapp (right) hadn't ducked when he did, he probably would have heard the birdies sing. For Jimmy McLarnin packs a wicked wallop. Photo was made at New York, where McLarnin underwent a preliminary workout in preparation for his bout with Barney Ross, lightweight champion on May 28.

About This And That

BY THE SECOND GUESSER

As bad as the Columbus ball club needs hitting power, it's management, in our estimation, pulled one of the biggest boners a Columbus club has ever been guilty of. That is the release of Catcher Tom Angley to the Elmira club of the New-York-Pennsylvania leagues. It was announced today ***

A clause is in the announcement making Angley subject to 24 hours recall.

We would rate Angley No. 1 on the Columbus catching staff and not very much lower than that if we want to consider the entire American association. Johnny Gooch is a has-been even though he is a coach and assistant to Ray Blades. Ken O'Dea may become a star catcher but he certainly isn't now.

To Angley's release, which slashes the roster to the 20 limit, we give a "polite" nertz ***

For just how many years more will Babe Ruth continue to rule the big show as the king of swat? *** Undoubtedly he still retains that distinction but his prestige is rapidly being torn away by his own teammate and protege, Columbia Lou Gehrig.

Ruth in 20 years of baseball has driven in 2,113 runs and he holds the all-time mark for extra bases in a season, 457—Gehrig is favored to topple both these *** In three different seasons Gehrig has hit a total of more than 400 bases and once had 447 *** He has hit for 51 bases in 20 games played so far and has driven in 25 runs *** Two years ago he hit four consecutive home runs in one game something the Babe has never done *** Yesterday he clouted two doubles and two homers in five innings before retiring because of a cold—what would he have done if he was not afflicted with the cold? *** He batted for 12 total bases.

Circleville has a real baseball fan in George Dade *** They have been telling a little yarn about the enthusiast that bears passing along *** It's true, too

MECCAS PLAY MEATS TONITE

Thursday Evening Game Postponed By Wet Grounds; Begin at 6:30.

With wet grounds causing postponement of Thursday night's recreation ball game between the Circle City dairy and the Purina Chows, action this evening, with the Mecca restaurant and the McClarren Meats tangling in the play-off of their game ordered played over by the league managers after a protest.

The Mecca won the Monday night game 8-4 with two runs on passed balls being protested. Jaggy Davis is expected to be on the hill for the Meccas with Leonard Buskirk for the Meats.

The game will start at 6:30 sharp and no infield practice between innings will be allowed in an effort to speed up the ball game.

Thursday noon's downpour proved a big help to the field even though it left a few mud-holes. It should be in good playing condition tonight unless it rains again.

who understands who I am.

"All will be treated in strict confidence and all instructions will be carried out to the letter upon instructions under the signature of Mr. Gettle. Refer to me as Bill-611-Colonial Style.

"I am sure this will be understood by Mr. Gettle and that he can assure the gentleman that there will be no slipup in anything he wants done. An anxious wife and family are waiting word."

PUZZLES POLICE

The cryptic note puzzled police but Walter Girtan, Azusa, Cal., chain store manager and Gettle's brother-in-law, pointed out that the 611-Colonial Style could have referred to merchandise carried by the store with which Gettle was familiar.

William J. Drews of Beverly Hills, an intimate friend of the Gettle family, pointed out that the victim's nickname was "Bill" and that he had lived in a Colonial Style house.

Attorney Noon professed ignorance of the appeal note but other friends of the missing man said they had reason to believe that it was authentic and believed that the code word would identify readily the sender to Gettle although they could not explain it.

James Wolf, a rich furniture dealer, guest at the swimming pool party and an eyewitness to the kidnapping, said that he believed Gettle had been injured badly when the kidnapers pushed him over an eight-foot wall that encircled the Gettle estate.

Wolfe said he thought that Gettle now was in need of medical attention.

Most of the investigators believed that Gettle was being held somewhere in the Sierra Madre mountains near Arcadia. The greatest manhunt since the search for William Edward Hickman, the "Fox" slayer of little Marion Parker of Los Angeles, was underway today personally directed by District Attorney Buron Pitts and assisted by United States department of justice agents.

FOUR IN GANG?

The only tangible clue to the kidnapers uncovered by police in their preliminary investigations was furnished by S. E. Lork of Arcadia who reported that every day since last Friday he had seen the automobile with Illinois license plates driving about in the vicinity of the walled estate. The car, Lork said, carried four men. This clue gave rise to the theory that Chicago gangsters were responsible for the kidnaping.

To Sing and Read Green Pastures

E. K. Povenmire, history and dramatics teacher at the local high school, is presenting a reading of the successful negro play "The Green Pastures" at eight o'clock this evening at the Methodist Church. The entertainment is being sponsored by the Young Women's Bible Class whose president is Mrs. Lester Coate.

"The Green Pastures" was written by Marc Connelly from Roark Bradford's book of negro folks tales "Of Man Adam an' his Chillun" and received the Pulitzer award for being the best drama of 1929. It tells the story of the bible through the eyes of the southern negro whose supple imagination saw "de Lawd in de shape of a nachel man" and the angels enjoying a fish fry before the pearly gates.

After one of the longest runs on Broadway, and this in depression years, the play received a warm welcome on its country-wide tour and is now being acclaimed in the southern states as a great play, an unusual tribute for a negro drama.

Mr. Povenmire is particularly well prepared to give this play for after having seen the New York production, he studied the characters as acting problems during his three year course at Yale Theatre, a graduate department of Yale University. He has presented different scenes of the play to various groups in Circleville and the entire drama to the Monday Club. In each instance he has been very well received, as was also the case when he presented the reading at Crooksville, Ohio, last Sunday evening.

Mr. Povenmire uses neither the book nor notes but presents the play by acting the different withered the grain and pasture crops still further.

Sweeping from the Canadian great plains as far south as Texas and eastward to the lower Ohio Valley, the swirling dust fog, which extended two miles high and was driven by gale-like winds, proved a choking menace to human beings as well as a destructive agent for the parched crops.

SUNSET CLOUDED

One of the phenomena of the sifting dust clouds was the almost moon-like sunset to which Ohioans were treated last evening.

The haze of the sifting dust clouds materially cut down visibility and in many sections of the state, the sky gave every appearance of rain, but only a small amount of rain actually fell.

Scientists estimated that twelve million pounds of the dust bank settled over Chicago's 200-square miles alone.

Transport planes maintained their schedules by keeping above the dust bank. At an elevation of 10,000 feet, the rolling murky

In his introductory remarks the reader will trace the literary ancestors of the play and give a character sketch of Richard B. Harrison, the famous negro actor who takes the part of "De Lawd."

An admission of twenty cents is being charged for the reading which will begin at eight o'clock.

DOUGHTY RUNS FOR CONGRESS

Former Local Man In Race For Post To Be Vacated By Truax, He Says.

Clark C. Doughty of Columbus, formerly of this city, has secured nomination petitions from the secretary of state's office and announced his candidacy for Congressman-at-Large on the Democratic ticket.

In announcing his candidacy Doughty issued the following statement:

"I had no intention whatever of running for the office of Congressman-at-Large, until I read in the papers that Mr. Truax would not be a candidate to succeed himself, but instead would seek the office of United States Senator."

"I immediately wrote a letter to the congressman at Washington asking him whether or not these reports were true, and he answered me over his own signature in these exact words, 'You can assure all your friends that Truax is in the Senatorial race to stay and to win, regardless of who gets in or out.'"

"I have always felt that elective officials are entitled to re-nominations for any and all offices, but inasmuch as the congressman has signified his intentions of aspiring to the higher office of United States Senator, thus creating a vacancy on the congressional ticket, that I had a perfect right as a Democrat and a citizen of Ohio to announce myself as a candidate to succeed him."

"In conclusion let me say also, that Doughty is the race for Congressman-at-Large to stay and to win, regardless of who gets in or out."

Doughty started his political career as clerk to the late John N. Hinkle, Mayor of Columbus; later he was elected to the office of enrolling clerk of the Ohio Senate.

Mrs. George O. Thorn Gives Recipes Requested At the Cooking School

Dear Friends in Circleville:

So many requests came to me during the Cooking School for good "small" cakes and sweet breads such as nut breads that I have been collecting and trying out a new selection for you.

Here are some of the best ones and you will find that they fit exceptionally well into Spring entertaining menus. For teas, the first teas on the porch in the warmer sections of the country, for late Sunday suppers, for bridge and other June bride shower parties, the following recipes are especially good.

Cake Squares

Three tablespoons shortening; three fourths cup granulated sugar; one egg; one half cup milk; one teaspoon vanilla; one cup flour; one half teaspoon salt; one teaspoon baking powder; one half cup brown sugar; two teaspoons cinnamon; one cup chopped walnut kernels; one tablespoon butter. Blend the shortening and sugar together; add the beaten egg and

and then to the office of reading clerk of the same body, serving with A. P. Sandler who was then the clerk. Prior to prohibition he was the Democratic member of the Franklin-co Liquor License commission, and during the late world conflict operated the war market on East Broad-st opposite the state capitol building. He is now the president of Independent Merchants' Legislative Association of America.

Mr. Doughty is well known in Circleville and Pickaway-co having promoted the first street celebration ever held up to that time. It was known as the "Korn Karnival." Last winter he visited the city on several occasions as the representative of the Department of Commerce, Bureau of the Census, when he appointed several to the position of enumerators of his department.

mix well; combine the milk and vanilla and add alternately with the flour, salt and baking powder which have been sifted twice together. Pour into a shallow pan which has been rubbed with shortening, sprinkle with the brown sugar and cinnamon mixed together, add the chopped walnuts, dot with butter. Bake in a moderate oven, 375 degrees, for thirty minutes, or until brown. Enough for six or eight.

Banana Walnut Cake

One half cup shortening; one and one half cups granulated sugar; two eggs well beaten; two cups flour; one half teaspoon salt; one half teaspoon soda; one teaspoon baking powder; four tablespoons sour milk or buttermilk; one cup mashed bananas; one teaspoon vanilla; one cup chopped walnut kernels.

Blend the shortening with the sugar until light and fluffy; add the beaten eggs and beat well together. Sift the flour, salt, soda and baking powder together and add to the sugar mixture alternately with the milk, banana pulp and vanilla which have all been mixed together. Beat after each addition until smooth. Add nuts last. Pour into a loaf pan rubbed with shortening and sprinkled lightly with flour. Bake in a moderate oven, 350 degrees, fifty minutes to one hour, or until done.

Ice with boiled icing. Or cut in slices when cool and ice the slices, making small individual cakes.

Rich Jumbles

One and one half cups shortening; one teaspoon salt; one and one half cups sugar; two eggs; yolk of another egg; one half cup cream; five cups flour; one teaspoon rose water.

Blend the shortening and sugar, beat the eggs and add to the first mixture. Add the flour, salt, rose water and cream and mix smoothly. Stir to a smooth paste, drop by spoonfuls on a baking sheet rubbed with shortening. Sprinkle with granulated sugar, and bake in a hot oven, 425 degrees, until light brown.

Cream Leaves

Three eggs; four tablespoons sugar; six tablespoons flour; grated rind of one lemon. Beat the eggs and sugar together. Add the flour and grated rind, and beat until light with an egg beater. Drop by teaspoonfuls upon a baking sheet rubbed with shortening, and bake for ten minutes, in a moderate, 350 degrees, oven. Cut them off with a knife and roll up at once in cornucopia shape or rolled tube. Fill with chocolate whipped cream, or any other good filling.

Gingernuts

One fourth cup shortening; one half cup molasses; one half cup brown sugar; one tablespoon ginger; one teaspoon lemon peel chopped fine; one half teaspoon caraway seeds; one egg; two cups flour.

Melt the shortening and mix it with the molasses; add the sugar, ginger, lemon peel and caraway seeds. Add the egg, slightly beaten, and the flour. Stir to a thick dough, stiff enough to roll into balls. Flour the hands. Roll the dough into balls the size of marbles, between the palms. Put them on a baking sheet, covered with paper rubbed with shortening. Place about one inch apart, as they will spread. Bake in a moderate oven, 375 degrees, for about twenty minutes.

WEST LOSES SUIT AND $621 DAMAGE

A judgment for $621.90 damages has been awarded in Ross-co courts to Thomas J. Vernia, football coach of the Chillicothe high school, against Joseph West, Williamsport, former Pickaway-co sheriff.

A petit jury in Judge Wilbur McKenzie's court decided the case. Vernia sought $1,200 as the result of an automobile wreck in Kings-ton Oct. 1, in which he suffered a bad cut on the left hand.

Mrs. Anna Hall, Watt-st, left Friday for a week's visit with her sister Mrs. Robert Davis of Loveland, O.

According to the ever-interesting movie columns, Mae West's latest imitation of Mae West is due any day now.

ABANDONED AUTO IS ROBLES CLUE

TUCSON, Ariz., May 11.—Discovery of a dilapidated automobile which the kidnappers used when they boldly seized little June Robles, six-year-old heiress, as she was leaving school 15 days ago, was the highlight in a rapid succession of sensational developments today.

PRAYERS OFFERED

were uttered. And candles were burned.

For 48 hours now police emergency squads have been battling to save the lives of Ross and Roy Barry, six-months-old twins, who are critically ill with pneumonia, and the neighborhood is determined to have its part in the struggle.

"The neighbors like the Barrys and the twins; they can't help praying for them," Miss Beatrice Johnson, a registered nurse, who lives nearby and who is helping care for the children, explained.

The police emergency squads were called to the Barry home early Thursday when it was found necessary to administer oxygen to the twins. Ceaselessly the burly law officers, working in relays, man the inhalators. Its tiresome work, but the police don't mind.

Early today Dr. Joseph Glassman, the physician on the case, said that Ross, the bigger and stronger of the twins, had a fair chance to live. He held out little hope for Roy, however, who weighed only two pounds at birth.

LOST OTHER TWINS In all probability, according to Dr. Glassman, the crisis will be reached today—exactly one year from the day the parents lost their first pair of twins, Vera and Ellen, who succumbed to pneumonia.

Peter Barry, is a clerk and a carpenter who has been out of work for a year. He and his wife were hollow-eyed and sleepy almost to the point of collapse last night. But they weren't too tired to express thanks for the prayers of the neighbors.

"Tell 'em we're grateful," said Peter Barry.

Murders Increase

Reason for increased public concern over the crime situation in the United States is given by statistics gathered by Dr. Fred-L. Hoffman, a consulting statistician of New York city.

In an article in an insurance magazine, he shows that slayings increased 100 per cent since 1900. The annual homicide toll between 11,000 and 12,000.
The highest rates are in St. Louis and the South. Since 1900, combined homicide rate per 100 population of 31 cities from he had uniform returns increased from 5.01 to 10.7.

Heor crimes of violence, Dr.
Dean found, are not confined to the circles of society in which they ordinarily would be expected to prevail to a greater degree. "Brutal," "brutal," he says, "are committed by men and women of education and refinement. This is not the most distressing part of his report. "An entirely increasing number of crimes are committed by men," he finds, "who are as in their method of murder as the case with men."

figures given by Dr. Hoffman must impress not only officials but the public and society at large with the necessity of doing something to curb the homicidal tendency.

before proposing new laws, attention will be given to determining strict, prompt enforcement of those ouncement is made in Washington that the government plans to obliterate 1,800 men to fight the liquor traffic. Not all of the eggers, it would appear, have the army of unemployed.

Caution Needed

When Chicago seemed well on the road to curbing if not eliminating its gangsters and retainers the Illinois supreme court hands down a decision upping one of the laws which had been instrumental in placing many Chicago gunmen behind the bars.

Among those who will be released as a result of the ruling are "Two-Alerie," James Belcastro,
"the bomber," and "Ma-gun" Jack McGurn, former lieutenant.

he supreme court held to be unconstitutional the new state vagrancy law which provided six months' sentence for persons with final reputations. It was under this act that the gangsters now released were convicted. It necessary only to establish reputations as lawless characters to send them to prison.

While not ignoring "the worthy pose" of the act, the supreme court held that it was necessary, for federal and state constitutions, "that before liberty or property may be taken from any one, irrespective of his reputation, there be proof that he is in fact a criminal."

he decision will have the effect of emphasizing the danger of going too far in legislative efforts to crime. Hysteria must be pertained to endanger constitutional guarantees. There are plenty of ways for punishing criminal acts, setting the "reputation law"
to make the work of Chicago police a little harder, but greater caution and energy in going after gangsters are needed, not self-enforcing laws.

Hindenburg has begun his tenth year as president of Germany.
And we believe Victor Emmanuel still is king of Italy.

Paige loses her fortune through market speculation but a harder blow comes when her fiancé... the fascinating, irresponsible Drew Armitage... tells her it would be madness to marry on his income and leaves town. Penniless and broken-hearted, Stanley refuses to seek aid from her wealthy friends.
Desiring to make her own way,
Stanley drops out of her exclusive circle and rents a cheap furnished room. After a week of loneliness and trying to adapt herself to her poor surroundings, Stanley calls on Nigel Stern, one of her society friends, and asks his aid in securing a position. Nigel urges her to marry the handsome and wealthy young lawyer, Perry Deverest, who has loved her devotedly for years, but Stanley's heart is with Drew.
Nigel suggests that she think it over, and then, if she still wants a position, he will try to place her.

CHAPTER NINETEEN

Stanley had been sitting for a long time on the park bench. There had been children in the Square when she first came, and families sitting on ice-cream cones and people waiting for busses, and more people sitting, reading the evening papers. But now it was quite dark and the children had gone home and the people had taken the busses and there was no longer any daylight to read by.

Here and there through the Square lovers sat close together, their arms and hands touching;
here and there people who were no longer lovers sat and slept—or just sat, too tired to go home.

It was hot and still—with the heat hanging languidly, as it does when it is very dark and there is no wind and no promise of rain.
Even in the darkness one knew that the trees and grass were scorched; that the painted benches were blistered, that everywhere dust lay thick and dry and motionless.

Stanley sat motionless, too, her hands folded one over the other.
She had taken a bath, and dressed, and gone out to the corner drug store and climbed up on a high stool between a fat, cheerful perspiring man, who was eating a hamburger sandwich and a mildly pretty little girl who was consuming a chocolate ice-cream soda. She had ordered food but the sight of the wilted lettuce and slice of over-ripe tomato had been too much for an already sick appetite, and so she had slid off the stool and come here. Valerie had gone out with Jimmy Hunter—they had asked her to go along—now she wished that she had—but it had been so hot and she had been so tired.

Sitting here now in the dark, she went wearily over the four days which had passed since her afternoon at Nigel's. The relaxed mood in which she had left his studio had deserted her within a few hours and she had known almost at once that she would not go back or telephone to him. She tried to explain it to Valerie. "It's like this, Val—if I let him help me, get me this place in the art shop, it would mean that I would be seeing all of them again—Nigel, Dennis St. John, Perry, of course. I don't want to do that. I don't know why, exactly, but I don't. I'd rather find something for myself, work things out alone."

So each day since she had walked several miles in answer to advertisements Valerie marked the night before in the evening paper. Assistant in a beauty parlor, hostess in a tea room, attendant in a doctor's office, part-time governess for two English children, demonstrator for a new brand of coffee, filing

"You know, you might have called a cop or something. I suppose I took a rather long chance, speaking to you," he said.

clerk in a large department store—and each time she arrived too late or was turned away because of lack of experience or references.

Valerie was persistently optimistic. "Something is sure to turn up, if you've got to be patient. Don't expect to get it this week, or maybe next."

Stanley felt things would be infinitely easier when she had work to do. When one is physically tired out, one has to sleep. Between work and sleep she hoped to get through the next few months—beyond that she refused to go.

Every bit of her ached for Drew.
She felt that if he had been in New York, she would have gone to him and begged him to come back to her.
But he was not in New York. He was in Chicago. And in her heart she thanked God that this was so, and at the same time prayed that he might return, that he might speak to her over the telephone, that she might meet him in the street. Every tail, swinging figure seen at a distance robbed her of her breath and she sorted over the scanty mail on the hall table with trembling fingers.

But Drew did not come and he did not write and in her innermost soul she knew that this was good but her heart hungered for him—pitifully, rebelliously, unceasingly.
Even in her sleep she was never without a troubled consciousness of him—the ripple of hard muscle in his lean arms, the slanting planes of his dark cheeks, the husky note in his voice when he made love to her. She wondered if these things would ever dim, grow vague and fade away, if she would ever be able to push him into some dark, far corner of her mind, if he would ever become less a painfully distinct reality and more a half-forgotten memory. She thought not.

So intent she was upon her own thoughts that she was startled when out of the hot darkness someone spoke to her.

"Excuse me, but you've been sitting here an awful long time and so have I. I don't want to be talking to you, I won't but if you don't mind, I'd like to."

She looked up abruptly, noticed for the first time that she was not the sole occupant of the bench. In the darkness it was hard to tell much about him, except that he was young and thin and had a nice, side. Ruthlessly sweeping toward his goal, he gains control of a profitable business and rides to power over the trampled rights of others.

Romance figures strongly in the drama and plays its part in bringing the story to a sensational climax. Miss Moore, an office girl,
and Miss Tobin, a calculating luxury-mad beauty, oppose each other in their views in guiding Fairbanks to fame.

Frank Morgan, Edward Everett
Horton, Nydia Westman, Allen
Vincent and Henry Kolker are also seen in "Success At Any Price."

Trucks now handle 61 per cent of the hogs, 60 per cent of the calves, 46 per cent of the cattle, and 25 percent of the sheep on 17 markets. Along with this tendency to more trucking there follows increased transient losses, according to the Ohio Livestock Loss Prevention Association.

A few peach blossoms have appeared on some of the hardier varieties such as Champion, Rochester and Smith Haven. These varieties, however, make up only a small percentage of the trees in Ohio. Elberta and Hale are a failure this year.

From 1928 to 1934 numbers of all cattle—beef and dairy—increased in the United States from 57 millions to about 67 million.
Dairy cattle numbers increased about 22 per cent, beef cattle numbers by a similar percentage.

Cash income from the sale of farm products in the United States is estimated at $408,000,000 for March compared to $275,000,000 for last March. Benefit and rental payments raise the estimate to $400,000,000.

Tendency to Gout May Be Hereditary

Authority Gives Some Facts About This Painful Disease

By ROYAL S. COPELAND, M. D.
United States senator from New York
Former Commissioner of Health,
New York City

NOTHING IS more amusing than the diary of the illustrious Samuel Pepps. From a medical point of view, it is interesting to note his frequent references to an affliction called gout. This disease was common in England in the days of Samuel Pepps.

Dr. Copeland

Of course, gout is still encountered and we often hear of persons who are called "gouty." This expression is applied to those who are susceptible to gouty infections and pain in the joints. After eating foods rich in certain substances called "purines" the victim complains of pain in the joints, particularly in the joint of the big toe. This is due to excessive deposits of uric acid.

The gouty individual is a sufferer from constipation, indigestion, headache, restlessness and irritability. He is usually stricken in the middle of the night with the acute symptoms of gout. The involved joint becomes red, swollen, hot and extremely painful. The pain comes on suddenly, but may subside within a few hours, only to recur. With the attack, there may be fever, thirst and digestive disturbances, such as sickness at the stomach and vomiting.

Confused With Rheumatism

Many such attacks are confused with rheumatism, neuralgia or neu-ritis. But the pain of gout is severe nature, coming in periodic attacks and usually involving the small joint of the body. In rheumatism, the pain is more chronic in its nature.

As told by Samuel Pepps, in his time gout was believed to be an incurable disease. Fortunately, times have changed; the disease can now be cured by careful regulation of the diet. This must contain foods which carry a minimum amount of uric acid.
Those which form uric acid and which contain purines are prohibited. Meats, meat extracts, bouillon, sweet breads, kidneys and brains, are types of foods which the victim of gout must avoid.
Fortunately, the disease can now be cured by careful regulation of the diet.

Every effort should be made to overcome the constipation and to correct all digestive disorders. Avoid overeating. Moderate eating at regular hours, with regular hours of sleep, exercise, daily bathing, an abundance of fresh air and sunshine, are a few suggestions to sufferers from gout.

Bear in mind that the disease is believed to be hereditary. Even though you are careful about your food, you may show some tendency towards this affliction. If you are the victim of repeated pains and aches in your joints, you must suspect gout. If in doubt, consult with your physician.

CALLS ALL-BRAN NATIONAL NATURAL LAXATIVE

Delicious Cereal Checked His Constipation

Here is an unsolicited letter from Mr. Daniels:

"For many years I have been habitually constipated, and have used all sorts of laxatives. So, in fairness to Kellogg's All-Bran, I heartily claim it to be a most wonderful remedy for constipation.

"Need I tell you that I have long since ceased using laxatives? Kellogg's All-Bran is the National Natural Laxative. If it were used by every family in the United States for breakfast, we would have a much healthier race of people."—Mr. John Daniels, 1030 Third St., North Bergen, N. J.

Tests show Kellogg's All-Bran furnishes "bulk" to exercise the intestines and vitamin B to help tone the intestinal tract. All-Bran also supplies iron for the blood.

The "bulk" in All-Bran is much like that in leafy vegetables. Isn't this food much pleasanter than risking pills and drugs? Two table-spoonsful daily are usually sufficient. If not relieved this way, see your doctor.

When The Gas Goes Off—It's Front Page News!

Once or twice a year you may read that some Ohio community -- of the hundreds that are served with gas -- has been deprived of gas service for a few hours, due to an accident to the lines. It's front page news in the town where it occurs, because it is quite probable that it never happened there before. What other

Coming to The Cliftona Theatre

Douglas Fairbanks, Jr. and Genevieve Tobin

AT THE CLIFTONA

Is the gangster who rules by machine gun more or a criminal than the so-called legitimate business man who gains wealth and power through trickery, deceit, evasion of the laws and bribery?

"Success At Any Price" strikes upon this vital and timely topic as a sidelight of the RKO-Radio Picture with Douglas Fairbanks, Jr., Frank Morgan, Genevieve Tobin and Colleen Moore, which comes to the Cliftona, Saturday.

Fairbanks is seen as the brother of a gangster killed by machine gun fire. Bitter against society, he determines to win wealth and power at any cost—but he will keep the letter of the law on his side. Ruthlessly sweeping toward his goal, he gains control of a profitable business and rides to power over the trampled rights of others.

Romance figures strongly in the drama and plays its part in bringing the story to a sensational climax. Miss Moore, an office girl,
and Miss Tobin, a calculating luxury-mad beauty, oppose each other in their views in guiding
Fairbanks to fame.

Frank Morgan, Edward Everett
Horton, Nydia Westman, Allen
Vincent and Henry Kolker are also seen in "Success At Any Price."

PATTERN 9997

No woman however modest can keep out of print this summer. It just can't be done. If a crepe or cotton doesn't get you, a chiffon will. So better be prepared with the right pattern. Isn't this?
Did you ever see anything more charming for a sheer flowered texture than that yoke which flutters over the shoulders in little cape-lets and in the front in two tiny jabots? And aren't you impressed by the pretty girdle that makes one so slim and appealing?

Pattern 9997 may be ordered only in sizes 14, 16, 18, 20, 32, 34, 36, 38, 40 and 42. Size 16 requires 3 1/4 yards 36 inch fabric.

Miss McEwing New Head of Women's Club

Miss Charlotte McEwing was elected president of the Business and Professional Women's club at the meeting Thursday evening in the club room.

Other officers named for the ensuing year were Miss Clara Southward, vice president; Miss Velma Watson, recording secretary; Miss Evelyn Young, corresponding secretary, and Miss Minnie Palm, treasurer.

Delegates to the state convention to be held at the Neil House in Columbus, May 18 and 19, were named—Miss McEwing and Miss Elizabeth Drum, delegates; Miss Charlotte Phelps and Miss Young, alternates.

One new member, Miss Joyce Haskell, was taken into the club at this meeting.

A six o'clock dinner preceded the business session.

The executive board of the club will meet Wednesday, May 16, at 7 p. m. to make arrangements for the banquet for the girl graduates.

WASHINGTON GRANGE HAS MOTHERS' DAY PROGRAM

At the regular meeting of Washington Grange Thursday evening in the Washington-twp school auditorium an interesting program honoring the mothers were presented. Sixty-five members enjoyed the entertainment.

Miss Ruth Delong and Miss Edith Spangler presented appropriate songs for group singing.

The remainder of the program consisted of a reading, "History of Mother," by Miss Nellie Kuhn; clarinet solo, Miss Cleo Bowman, accompanied by Miss Dorothy Glick; recitation, "Nobody Else," Miss Helen Bowman; reading, "Mothers' Day," Miss Ruth Delong; violin solo, Miss Esther Hoyt, accompanied by Miss Glick; recitation, "To My Mother," Mary Katherine Bowman; two piano solos by little Martha Bolender; recitation, "It's Good to Have a Mother," Gail List; recitation, "Something About a Mother," David Bolender.

A playlette, "Mothers' Day Campaigners," concluded the entertainment. The following participated Mrs. Merle Bowman, Mrs. Clay Hitler, Miss Nellie Bolender, Miss Martha Hitler, Miss Margaret Leist and Miss Mary Katherine Bowman.

Flowers were presented each mother present and refreshments were served by the younger members of the grange.

The program at the next meeting will be in charge of the married ladies under the chairmanship of Mrs. Loring List.

D. A. R. BENEFIT CARD PARTY IS SUCCESS

The benefit card party sponsored by the Pickaway Plains chapter Daughters of the American Revolution Thursday evening at Mrs. Clark Hunsicker's home on W. Union-st. was a very enjoyable and successful affair.

About 100 members and guests were assembled. Bridge was in play at twenty tables and a prize was awarded high score winner at each table. Refreshments were served later in the evening.

Assisting Mrs. Hunsicker in extending hospitalities were Mrs. Orion King, Mrs. Frank Bennett, Mrs. Harry Heffner, Mrs. Guy Lowdy, Mrs. Bernard Young, this city; Mrs. Lee Luellen, Mrs. G. P. Hunsicker, Williamsport; and Mrs. Paul Cromley, Ashville.

Prize winners included Mrs. F. A. Lutz, Mrs. H. J. Paulsen, Mrs. Earl Boles, Mrs. R. W. E. Irwin, Mt. Sterling; Mrs. Harry McGhee, Miss Margaret Dunlap and Mrs. Harold Bowers, Williamsport; Mrs. Anna Ball, Mrs. J. S. Rockey and Mrs. Hedges of Ashville; Miss Charlotte McEwing, Mrs. George Fickard, Mrs. Edgar Barrere, Mrs. John Bennett, Mrs. Fred Donnelly, Mrs. C. C. Watts, Mrs. Anna Ritt, Mrs. Bryce Briggs, Mrs. Hildeburn Jones, this city; and Mrs. George Conolly of Chagrin Falls.

Members of her bridge club were guests of Miss Margaret Buchanan, S. Pickaway-st., Thursday evening.

Bridge was in play at two tables with high score prizes going to Miss Virginia Marion and Miss Minnie Lyle, a guest. Refreshments were served.

Mrs. Paul Carruthers, S. Court-st., will entertain the club in two weeks.

MISS BUCHANAN IS HOSTESS

Members of her bridge club were guests of Miss Margaret Buchanan, S. Pickaway-st., Thursday evening.

Bridge was in play at two tables with high score prizes going to Miss Virginia Marion and Miss Minnie Lyle, a guest. Refreshments were served.

Mrs. Paul Carruthers, S. Court-st., will entertain the club in two weeks.

Artistically arranged baskets of American beauty roses and blue scabiosa decorated the room and centered the attractively appointed tables for the dinner. Covers were laid for thirty-four.

Following the dinner hour Eddie Pritchard acted as toastmaster and enlivened the program with his clever remarks in introducing the various numbers.

The class will, history and prophecy were given by members of the Junior class and toasts were given by seniors and faculty members.

The remainder of the evening was spent in cards and music.

LADIES' AID MEETS WITH MRS. KRIMMEL

Mrs. Albert Krimmel and daughter, Miss Bertha, and Mrs. Lester Ward were hostesses to members of the Ladies' Aid of Christ Lutheran church Thursday afternoon at the former's home in Jackson-twp.

Following the devotional service in charge of Rev. George Troutman, president, the following program was presented:

Reading, "Somebody's Mother," by Mrs. James Hulise; vocal duet, "My Mother's Bible," Mrs. George List and Mrs. Harry Kern; reading, "Mother and the Styles," Miss Ethel Kern; vocal solo, "Mother," Mrs. G. L. Troutman.

Refreshments were served at the close of the meeting.

The June session will be held at the home of Mrs. Adam List, Jackson-twp, with Mrs. Meinhard Trump assisting.

DANCE CLUB TO CLOSE SPRING ACTIVITIES

The Junior Dancing club of this city will close its spring activities with a Soiree Dancante, Saturday, May 12, in the club rooms above the First National Bank.

The dance will be a final one of a series of eight which have been held every Saturday evening during March and April.

The club was organized under the supervision of the Circleville branch of the Stella J. Becker School of Dancing. Plans are made to reorganize in the fall.

MISS HITLER ENTERTAINS

Miss Helen Hitler, W. Mound-st., entertained several of her friends at bridge Thursday evening at her home.

The planned diversion of the pleasant evening was enjoyed at two tables with trophy for high score at the conclusion of the game going to Mrs. Ralph Wallace.

A delectable salad course was served at the small tables by the hostess.

Enjoying the evening were Mrs. Sterling Lamb, Mrs. Ralph Wallace, Miss Thelma O'Hara, Miss Mary Radcliffe, Misses Evelyn Adkins, Mrs. Edward Fries, Miss Marian Hitler and the hostess.

TWO EX-CONVICTS

Taylor and Hopkins were believed to be Ohio ex-convicts.

None of the prisoners would talk when brought to jail here.

Following the arrest it was learned that federal agents had the house under surveillance for several days following a tip that Dilling and his lieutenant, John Hamilton, were hiding there.

Late last night Taylor ran a red light in the Richmond business district and was chased by police but eluded them.

The officers then surrounded the suspects' house determined to round up the gang. Taylor was said to have showed up there and to have gone into the house at 5:30 a. m. today.

Police and federal agents clapped a censorship on news of the arrests. This led to reports that Dilling himself had been apprehended.

Fingerprints of the prisoners and their Bertillon pictures were being taken by the police today.

Up and Down: Richberg and Insull, Two Men Who Crossed Swords

WASHINGTON — Two decades ago in Chicago, a young lawyer who had built up a lucrative practice with Big Business, suddenly got disgusted with it all and became the champion of the underdog.

He became the attorney for labor unions and other lost causes. As special counsel for the city of Chicago he launched a vitriolic attack upon the biggest utility magnate in the Midwest—a man who had built an opera house, endowed Chicago charities, held that city in the hollow of his hand.

The young lawyer was Donald Richberg. The big magnate was Samuel Insull. Richberg was convinced that Insull's Peoples' Gas Light and Coke Company was overcharging its consumers by millions of dollars annually. On behalf of the city he brought suit.

From that point on Richberg's life became hell. Insull showed the same ingenuity in fighting him that he showed in his recent attempts to escape the arm of justice. The young lawyer was shadowed by private detectives. Attempts were made to frame him with women. For one year his pay and all expenses of the law suit were held up. He had to borrow money to push the case. Big Bill Thompson, then mayor and whose campaign received a $100,000 contribution from Insull, attempted to discharge him. The city police confessed that they expected he was going to be "rubbed out."

In the end the young lawyer won his case.

How completely he won it, however, even he did not then realize. For while Sam Insull was spirited from a lonely voyage of exile to a train bearing him to trial, Richberg now a close adviser to President Roosevelt, held one of the most powerful legal jobs in the U. S. A.—Counsel for the NRA.

Island Troubles

The President is having bad luck with Puerto Rico. No matter who he sends down as governor, trouble develops. Some critics say it is because of his poor selection, others that the political and economic status of Puerto Rico is insoluble.

Probably it is a combination of both.

At first the attack was on Governor Bob Gore, who offended the natives. Now the attack is on Governor Blanton Winship, who is charming to the natives.

The basis for the Winship attack is partly on the latter attribute. Winship, an old army man, once military attaché to Calvin Coolidge, is polite, polished, punctilious, but completely without vision. Puerto Ricans like him personally, but not politically.

The result is a drive to undermine him. Winship they would retain as governor, but strip him of his chief duties. These would go to Puerto Ricans.

The interesting thing about it all is the part Mrs. Roosevelt is playing in the picture. A recent visitor to the island, she took a great interest in its future.

Another recent visitor was Rex Tugwell, whose main job is assistant secretary of Agriculture, but who performs many official errands for the First Lady of the Land.

Tugwell and John Carter (alias Jay Franklin, Tugwell's ghost) recently have been working with Mrs. Roosevelt on the future of Winship in Puerto Rico. The War Department, which has charge of the island, doesn't like it, but can't help it. The cabal of Puerto Rican politicians against Winship is too strong.

50-50

Senator Bob Wagner has agreed to a 50-50 split on his bitterly contested Labor Disputes bill.

In a last hope to obtain some sort of labor legislation he has given ground on one of the two major provisions of his original measure.

They were: (1) outlawing of company unions; (2) majority rule to control membership on workers' representation committees.

WIFE IN PLEA FOR GETTLE'S RETURN HOME

Offers Any Price for Safety of Abducted California Man

ACTIVITY IN SEEN

Believe Kidnapers May Be Eastern Yeggs

LOS ANGELES, May 11.—(INS)—"Do anything you can — pay anything — but bring him back to me."

These were the instructions today of the wife of William F. Gettle, 47, retired millionaire oil and chain store executive, to his associates who desperately sought a contact with the two masked abductors who kidnaped him from his $250,000 Arcadia estate early yesterday at the height of a gay swimming pool party.

Mrs. Gettle offered a fortune as ransom to her husband's kidnapers.

"Name your price," was the word broadcast by Gettle's associates to the kidnapers.

ORGANIZED GANG?

Because a small but high powered automobile with Illinois license plates had been seen in the vicinity of Gettle's lavish estate for several days officers were inclined to the belief that the abduction was carefully planned and perpetrated by a well organized gang of eastern kidnapers.

Another belief was that a "mystery woman" headed the gang that carried out the kidnap plot.

A hint of the identity of the abductors came during the night when Ernest E. Noon, Gettle's attorney, appointed as ransom intermediary, raced to an unannounced destination and returned in thirty minutes with the statement:

"I have received some very interesting information regarding the possible identity of the kidnapers. We will follow our information."

Noon refused to amplify his statement.

The shadowy outline of a woman was injected into the case when Albert Hitchen, a guest at the party when the kidnaping occurred, disclosed that he had received a mysterious telephone call shortly after the millionaire was spirited away.

"The telephone at Gettle's rancho rang and I answered it," Hitchen said. "A woman asked to speak to Mr. Gettle. I told her he was not there. She said she wanted to know whether he had received his magazine. Then the connection was broken. It was a local call."

SEEN IN AUTOMOBILE

Authorities connected the telephone call directly with an earlier report that a woman had been parked in an automobile outside the Gettle estate a few hours before the kidnaping, and that the woman had asked pertinent questions about Gettle and his family.

Noon meanwhile had announced through the newspapers his readiness to meet the kidnapers' terms.

"We want Mr. Gettle back alive immediately. His invalid wife's condition is grave. For her sake we ask his abductors to communicate with me quickly."

Simultaneously through the medium of a typewritten note left at Los Angeles newspaper offices for publication friends of the victim announced they would meet terms of any offer that would be dictated over Gettle's signature.

The note read:

"If the abductors of W. F. Gettle will get in touch with me, my identification can be obtained from Mr. Gettle. He is the only man

UNEMPLOYED MEN SHOULD REGISTER

Many To Be Given Work On Muskingum Project; Use Own Men First

COSHOCTON, May 11.—A general call for laborers on the federal government's $35,000,000 Muskingum watershed control project will be made about August 1, C. C. Chambers, president of the Dayton-Morgan Engineering Co., said here today.

All laborers will be hired through the National Reemployment Service and workers living in the 16 counties included in the watershed district will be given first preference, NRS attaches have stated.

In the meantime, a vanguard of the thousands expected to obtain employment for years in the Muskingum area, is now at work making surveys, exploring dam sites and preparing the final plans for the project.

H. E. Justice, director of the Ohio Reemployment Service, pointed out that workers outside of the Muskingum area, who wish to obtain employment on the project, should register in the NRS office of their own community.

Sequel to Dillinger Escape

City Teachers Adopt Constitution; Make Plans For Three Functions

A constitution was adopted and plans were made for several functions when the Circleville City Teachers' association met at the high school Thursday evening. All teachers of the city were present.

The constitution adopted by the teachers was prepared and presented by the executive committee comprised of Frank Fischer, president; Kenneth Lea, vice president; Florence Brown, secretary, and Ethel Stein, treasurer.

The teachers will have a picnic on "Mr. Daley's Ash Cave" Thursday evening, May 17 with Virgil Cress, chairman of the committee on arrangements. Other members of the committee are Miss Lucile Neuding, Miss Katherine Kirkpatrick, Kenneth Lea, and Roy Bowen.

An all-day session will be conducted on the second Saturday of the school year in September. Outside speakers augmented by local speakers will provide the program with all county teachers to be invited as guests.

A picnic for all city teachers was approved for the first week of school.

The purposes of the organization, according to its constitution, are: 1. To give us a chance to meet and enjoy each other; 2. To unite more closely for professional as well as social purposes; 3. To study projects systematically which concern us jointly and which may tend to make our school system a better one; 4. To secure advancement in the direction of a sanely progressive modern school by seeking inspiration from both within and without our own ranks; 5. To develop a closer relationship and a better understanding between the schools and the public concerning educational problems.

Wreck Happens Near Walnut-Twp School; Local Man Has Leg Broken

William Madden, 64, 123 E. Mill-st., was a patient in Berger hospital, Friday, suffering from a fractured right leg at the knee which he received in a collision with the automobile of Clayton Weaver, Walnut-twp, Thursday afternoon.

The accident happened near the Walnut-twp school where Madden was going to return several school teachers to this city.

He was traveling toward the school after turning off the Walnut creek-pk while Weaver, a brother of Attorney Harry B. Weaver, this city, was traveling toward the Walnut creek-pk.

Both automobiles were badly damaged.

Madden was taken to the hospital at 5:30 p. m. where he is under the care of Dr. H. D. Jackson.

Police Court

TRUCK DRIVER CALLED

Raymond M. Jenkins, Lilly Chapel, Madison-co, truck driver, has been ordered to appear before Squire H. O. Eveland, Saturday at 2 p. m. to answer to charges of driving a truck without a chauffeur's license and with operating at an excessive rate of speed.

He was taken into custody on State Route 104 by Deputy Miller Fissell.

HOWARD HALL POST PASSES ITS QUOTA

Numerous Legion Posts in District Fall Behind Expected Number

Howard Hall post American Legion is one of the "honorary" posts of the Ohio department with its membership quota oversubscribed at this time.

The post's quota for 1934 was 113 members; it now has 116.

Arch post, New Holland, Pickaway-co's second Legion organization, is behind its quota with 39 needed and only 20 enrolled.

The district No. 7, including Adams, Fayette, Highland, Lawrence, Pickaway, Pike, Ross, and Scioto-cos, is behind in its quota 2,099 members needed and only 1,647 enrolled.

The Washington C. H. post has 244 needed only 202, Coal Grove, Lawrence-co, 36 needed only 24, and Portsmouth No. 471, needing 16 and having 37 are the only cities in the district besides Circleville passing its quota.

West Union, Winchester, Manchester, Jeffersonville, Hillsboro, Lawrence, Ironton, New Holland, Waverly, Piketon, Bainbridge, Chillicothe, Frankfort, two Portsmouth posts and Lucasville are behind their programs.

Prayers Offered in Brooklyn Streets for Infant Twins; Crisis Believed Near

NEW YORK, May 11.—The prayers of neighbors and heroic work by police emergency squads who manned oxygen inhalators for 48 consecutive hours, were insufficient to save the life of one of the 6-month-old pneumonia stricken sons of Peter Barry, Brooklyn unemployed clerk.

Roy, the weaker of the pair, died at an early hour today, while Ross gained steadily in strength and is now believed to be past the danger point.

At various intervals last night men and women and a few children stopped in front of the home of Mr. and Mrs. Peter Barry in the Park Slope district of Brooklyn.

The women, unashamed and completely oblivious to the stares of passersby, dropped to their knees. The men took off their hats and stood with their eyes turned downward. Some of the children crossed themselves, while others glanced appealingly heavenward.

It was the first time in the memory of the oldest Brooklyn policeman that people have openly prayed on the streets for the recovery of the sick. It was a remarkable occurrence.

The women, for the most part, uttered low prayers. The men contented themselves with a simple, "Father, have mercy" or "Lord, hear us." The children voiced the sing-songy appeal for divine aid taught them in their Sunday schools.

IN CHURCHES, TOO

In the Holy Name church, a few blocks away, other prayers—more detailed and more ritualistic—

FIRE DAMAGE TIMBER LANDS OF SOUTH OHIO

Forest Army Youths Prevent Greater Loss to Virgin Timber

MORE RAIN NEEDED

Forester Says Loss Will Amount to $25,000

By International News Service

Heightening the menace of forest grass and peat fires, drought resumed its grim campaign of crop destruction today in Ohio and the parched middle western agricultural states where weather forecasters offered no immediate hope of general rainfall.

Dust storms and scattered heavy rains in the state yesterday brought some measure of relief in cooler weather but the respite was expected to be short-lived as cloudless skies put to flight any hope for much-needed showers.

Thousands of dollars damage was estimated to have resulted from the fires which broke out in various sections of the state yesterday, eating at large acreages of virgin timber lands and fields of dry grass and stubble.

CYCLONE IN MUSKINGUM

Heavy rains, which poured down on a dozen counties in the southern section of the state, reaching almost cyclonic proportions in Muskingum-co where numerous houses were unroofed and trees uprooted, aided volunteer firefighters in bringing the flames under control and from spreading to cause wider damage at least for the time being.

The disheartening forecast, however, that no more rain is immediately in sight increased the fire hazard today and throughout the state precautions were being taken to guard against the danger.

Yesterday's rains, although welcome, were said to be hardly sufficient to relieve the drought situation and the arid dust-laden winds that flew across wide sections

INSULL CITES HIS SEIZURE

Claims Return To United States Illegal; 10 Points Challenge Case.

CHICAGO, May 11.—Samuel Insull, arraigned in federal court here today, challenged the jurisdiction of the court claiming that he was illegally brought back from Turkey by the United States.

In his plea Insull set forth that the manner in which the Turks seized him in Istanbul harbor and turned him over to the American authorities was in violation of law. He contended, therefore, that he was not properly before the court.

Insull also contended that the court should take no further cognizance of the indictments — one charging fraudulent use of the mails and the other violation of the national bankruptcy act.

Insull's plea contained ten points challenging the legality of his arrest. The plea was filed by his attorney, Floyd E. Thompson.

The premise of the plea was that in view of the "illegal" seizure of the 74-year-old utility magnate the courts have no jurisdiction over him.

ARRAIGN YOUTHFUL ROBBERS ON MONDAY

Leland McDaniel and Howard Douglas, arrested in Columbus for robbery of the Good Hope-Fayette-co bank last Saturday, will be arraigned Monday before Judge H. M. Rankin.

If they plead guilty sentence will be passed immediately. Both have allegedly confessed the robbery in which $567 was stolen. More than $500 of the money was recovered.

The youths are being kept under close guard at the county jail.

WALNUT-TP WOMAN IS TAKEN FRIDAY

Mrs. Lavina Reinhardt, aged 59, widow of Albert F. Reinhardt, died of paralysis at her home in Walnut-twp at 5:30 a. m. Friday.

She was a native of Amanda-twp, Fairfield-co, being born July 3, 1876, a daughter of Thomas and Susan Huffer Young.

She is survived by seven children: Mrs. Noah Snyder, Mrs. Edward Young, Stanley and Oren, of Amanda; Esther, Bertha, and Glenn at home.

Funeral services will be Sunday at 10 a. m. at the Cedar Hill church with burial in Amanda-twp cemetery by E. F. Schlegel.

National Hospital Day To Be Observed At Berger Hospital

Miss Ethel Kirchofer, superintendent of Berger hospital, issued an invitation Friday to any person who desires to visit the hospital, Saturday. The event marks "National Hospital Day."

This day has been established on the date of the birth of Florence Nightingale.

Berger hospital is one of Circleville's finest institutions and residents of the city should be better acquainted with it and its operation. The grounds have been landscaped, a walk constructed and other improvements have made it one of the city's show places.

Miss Kirchofer and her staff of nurses will guide visitors through the building.

RURAL RELIEF PLAN STUDIED

Weiler to Ask $5,370 From U. S. To Start 350 County Families On Way.

Livestock and fowls, totalling $5,370 in value may be distributed to 350 rural Pickaway-co families within the next few weeks, in an effort "to get them on their feet" under the Family Recovery Program sponsored nationally. Ernie Weiler, relief commissioner, is working out the program to be presented for the approval of the county commission.

He intends to ask $5,370 from the federal government for the county families to repay the money by working on county roads, or doing what other work is provided.

Under his schedule 50 horses, 50 cows, 60 pigs and 3,000 chickens will be provided. The cost will be $15.63 per family.

TWO BENEFITS

The county will be benefited, first, by the federal money coming here and, second, by the work from the recipients of the cash.

The co-operation of the county agricultural agent, farm bureau, grange, commissioners and township trustees is essential in investigation of needs of families.

Under the program outlined to Mr. Weiler is the desire of federal leaders to "create the opportunity to provide plans and assistance to the end that every rural relief family may start a new record of self-support as of May 1 and that on next Thanksgiving day they will have in store fruits of their own labors plenty for the winter, such as garden produce, canned goods, warm clothing and bedding, fuel, food, coal, chickens, meat and milk.

The goal is 25 per cent of your rural families 100 per cent self-supporting; 50 per cent of your rural families 50 per cent self-supporting.

BOWMAN INDICTED

Ohio's Chance To Regain Bandit Gone; Faces Trial For Life.

COLUMBUS, May 11.—Action of the grand jury in Mercer-co, Kentucky, in indicting Neal Bowman, Ohio desperado, for murder, was seen by officials here today as increasing evidence that the outlaw will not come back to Ohio.

"I don't think we will ever have Bowman again," said Darrell S. Jones, Ohio assistant welfare director.

Bowman yesterday was indicted for the murder of Comer Franklin, 17, whose body was found in Herrington Lake several weeks ago. Bond was fixed at $10,000 by Circuit Judge Kendrick Alcorn.

An attempt will be made to link Bowman with another Kentucky murder, that of George Kaufman, Camp Nelson storekeeper, when the Jessamine-co grand jury begins investigation next month into Kaufman's death. Mercer-co officials expect to try Bowman first.

Bowman escaped from the Lima State Hospital for the Criminal Insane last Christmas Day, and was hunted for months until his recapture in Kentucky. Ohio already has made formal claims upon Kentucky authorities for Bowman's return here in the event that he is not convicted in connection with either of the two killings.

Two Men, Woman Surrender After Indiana House is Attacked

ARSENAL LOCATED

Fostoria, South Vienna Holdups Involved

RICHMOND, Ind., May 11.—Two men and a girl, believed to have participated in the recent bloody bank robberies at Fostoria and South Vienna, O., were arrested by federal agents and police here today who acted on a tip that John Dillinger was with the gang.

No trace, however, was found of Dillinger, and belief was expressed that the notorious Indiana desperado had no connection with the gang here.

Those arrested gave their names as Harry Hopkins, 23, of Jamestown, Ohio, Vernon Taylor, 28, a Thelma Mitchem, 22 both of Springfield, Ohio.

Police here said that Springfield officers would arrive here today to question the prisoners.

The two men also were suspected in the $1,200 holdup of the Farmers' and Merchants' bank at Milford Center, Ohio, on April 17; the $1,200 robbery of the Farmers' bank at Plain City, Ohio, last Saturday, and numerous filling station holdups including one at Plain City, Ohio, April 10 and one at Blanchard, Ohio, April 9.

PRESIDENT SLAIN

In the South Vienna bank robbery the president of the victimized bank was slain.

In the Fostoria holdup on May 3, five persons were shot and $17,000 loot was taken.

The capture was made after eight federal agents and several squads of police virtually besieged a house east of here all night, and fired one shot when one of the occupants sought to leave. The officers threw tear gas bombs into the house when daylight broke and the occupants then surrendered.

A veritable arsenal was found in the house it was learned. Taylor alone had four guns, one of them a German luger pistol that had been rebuilt into a sub-machine gun. He also had a saved-off shotgun and a Springfield army rifle. In his pockets were found $600 in cash.

An automobile found at the place resembled the one used in the Fostoria bank robbery in which five persons were machine-gunned about ten days ago. Investigation showed the machine was

STRIKES HINDER OHIO ACTIVITY

By International News Service

Strikes in Ohio today cut off the bread supply in Akron, the gasoline supply in Cleveland, resulted in a night action at Mansfield and caused the arrest of approximately 200 pickets at Cincinnati.

Those developments were only a criss-cross of the highlights of the state's unsettled labor situation. Many smaller strikes were in progress and the danger of a general strike of organized labor at Toledo has not been completely removed. There also were rumors of a general strike of unorganized workers in the steel industry.

Mrs. Hayden Anglen and infant son were removed from Berger hospital to their home in Williamsport, Friday.

Rev. Rush Principal Speaker at C. C. Meet

Besides the two daughters in Chicago she is survived by another daughter and three sons, John, of Columbus, and Charles and Ivan.

Funeral services will be held in Chicago Saturday at 2:30 p. m.

ORDER COLUMBUS TO CLEAN SCIOTO

COLUMBUS, May 11.—The Ohio Supreme Court today issued a peremptory writ of mandamus to compel the mayor and city council of Columbus of comply with an order of the state health department to install an adequate sewage disposal system.

The health department ordered installation of the disposal system to correct and prevent pollution of the Scioto River, into which the sewage now is being dumped.

The supreme court, last Wednesday, sustained the health department's demand for the answer of the city of Columbus to the mandamus proceedings, but the city was given 20 days in which to file an amended answer.

However, when counsel for the city advised the supreme court today that they did not wish to plead further, the court sent the writ to the Franklin-co sheriff to be served.

ZAENGLEIN HOME

C. F. Zaenglein, popular member of the high school faculty, was removed from Berger hospital to his home, Friday afternoon.

DOUGHTY RUNS FOR CONGRESS

Former Local Man In Race For Post To Be Vacated By Truax, He Says.

Clark C. Doughty of Columbus, formerly of this city, has secured nomination petitions from the secretary of state's office and announced his candidacy for Congressman-at-Large on the Democratic ticket.

In announcing his candidacy Doughty issued the following statement:

"I had no intention whatever of running for the office of Congressman-at-Large, until I read in the papers that Mr. Truax would not be a candidate to succeed himself, but instead would seek the office of United States Senator."

"I immediately wrote a letter to the congressman at Washington asking him whether or not these reports were true, and he answered me over his own signature in these exact words, 'You can assure all your friends that Truax is in the Senatorial race to stay and to win, regardless of who gets in or out.'"

"I have always felt that elective officials are entitled to re-nominations for any and all offices, but inasmuch as the congressman has signified his intentions of aspiring to the higher office of United States Senator, thus creating a vacancy on the congressional ticket, that I had a perfect right as a Democrat and a citizen of Ohio to announce myself as a candidate to succeed him."

"In conclusion let me say also, that Doughty is the race for Congressman-at-Large to stay and to win, regardless of who gets in or out."

Doughty started his political career as clerk to the late John N. Hinkle, Mayor of Columbus; later he was elected to the office of enrolling clerk of the Ohio Senate

Mrs. George O. Thorn Gives Recipes Requested At the Cooking School

Dear Friends in Circleville:

So many requests came to me during the Cooking School for good "small" cakes and sweet breads such as nut breads that I have been collecting and trying out a new selection for you.

Here are some of the best ones and you will find that they fit exceptionally well into Spring entertaining menus. For teas, those first teas on the porch in the warmer sections of the country, for late Sunday suppers, for bridge and other June bride shower parties, the following recipes are especially good.

Cake Squares

Three tablespoons shortening; three fourths cup granulated sugar; one egg; one half cup milk; one teaspoon vanilla; one cup flour; one half teaspoon salt; one teaspoon baking powder; one half cup brown sugar; two teaspoons cinnamon; one cup chopped walnut kernels; one tablespoon butter. Blend the shortening and sugar together; add the beaten egg and

and then to the office of reading clerk of the same body, serving with A. P. Sandles who was then the clerk. Prior to prohibition he was the Democratic member of the Franklin Co. Liquor License commission, and during the late world conflict operated the war market on East Broad-st opposite the state capitol building. He is now the president of Independent Merchants' Legislative Association of America.

Mr. Doughty is well known in Circleville and Pickaway-co having promoted the first street celebration ever held up to that time. It was known as the "Korn Karnival." Last winter he visited the city on several occasions as the representative of the Department of Commerce, Bureau of the Census, when he appointed several to the position of enumerators of his department.

mix well; combine the milk and vanilla and add alternately with the flour, salt and baking powder which have been sifted twice together. Pour into a shallow pan which has been rubbed with shortening, sprinkle with the brown sugar and cinnamon mixed together, add the chopped walnuts, dot with butter. Bake in a moderate oven, 375 degrees, for thirty minutes, or until brown. Enough for six or eight.

Banana Walnut Cake

One half cup shortening; one and one half cups granulated sugar; two eggs well beaten; two cups flour; one half teaspoon salt; one half teaspoon soda; one teaspoon baking powder; four tablespoons sour milk or buttermilk; one cup mashed bananas; one teaspoon vanilla; one cup chopped walnut kernels.

Blend the shortening with the sugar until light and fluffy; add the beaten eggs and beat well together. Sift the flour, salt, soda and baking powder together and add to the sugar mixture alternately with the milk, banana pulp and vanilla which have all been mixed together. Beat after each addition until smooth. Add nuts last. Pour into a loaf pan rubbed with shortening and sprinkled lightly with flour. Bake in a moderate oven, 350 degrees, fifty minutes to one hour, or until done.

Ice with boiled icing. Or cut in slices when cool and ice the slices, making small individual cakes.

Rich Jumbles

One and one half cups shortening; one teaspoon salt; one and one half cups sugar; two eggs; yolk of another egg; one half cup cream; five cups flour; one teaspoon rose water.

Blend the shortening and sugar, beat the eggs and add to the first mixture. Add the flour, salt, rose water and cream and mix smoothly. Stir to a smooth paste, drop by spoonfuls on a baking sheet rubbed with shortening. Sprinkle with granulated sugar, and bake in a hot oven, 425 degrees, until light brown.

Cream Leaves

Three eggs; four tablespoons sugar; six tablespoons flour; grated rind of one lemon. Beat the eggs and sugar together. Add the flour and grated rind, and beat until light with an egg beater. Drop by teaspoonfuls upon a baking sheet rubbed with shortening, and bake for ten minutes, in a moderate oven, 375 degrees. Cut them off with a knife and roll up at once in cornucopia shape or rolled tube. Fill with chocolate whipped cream, or any other good filling.

Gingernuts

One fourth cup shortening; one half cup molasses; one half cup brown sugar; one tablespoon ginger; one teaspoon lemon peel chopped fine; one half teaspoon caraway seeds; one egg; two cups flour.

Melt the shortening and mix it with the molasses; add the sugar, ginger, lemon peel and caraway seeds. Add the egg, slightly beaten, and the flour. Stir to a thick dough, stiff enough to roll into balls. Flour the hands. Roll the dough into balls the size of marbles, between the palms. Put them on a baking sheet, covered with paper rubbed with shortening. Place about one inch apart, as they will spread. Bake in a moderate oven, 375 degrees, for about twenty minutes.

WEST LOSES SUIT AND $621 DAMAGE

A judgment for $621.90 damages has been awarded in Ross-co courts to Thomas J. Vernia, football coach of the Chillicothe high school, against Joseph West, Williamsport, former Pickaway-co sheriff.

A petit jury in Judge Wilbur McKenzie's court decided the case. Vernia sought $1,200 as the result of an automobile wreck in Kings-ton Oct. 1, in which he suffered a bad cut on the left hand.

Mrs. Anna Hall, Watt-st, left Friday for a week's visit with her sister Mrs. Robert Davis of Loveland, O.

According to the ever-interesting movie columns, Mae West's latest imitation of Mae West is due any day now.

were uttered. And candles were burned.

For 48 hours now police emergency squads have been battling to save the lives of Ross and Roy Barry, six-months-old twins, who are critically ill with pneumonia, and the neighborhood is determined to have its part in the struggle.

"The neighbors like the Barrys and the twins; they can't help praying for them," Miss Beatrice Johnson, a registered nurse, who lives nearby and who is helping care for the children, explained. The police emergency squads were called to the Barry home early Thursday when it was found necessary to administer oxygen to the twins. Ceaselessly the burly law officers, working in relays, man the inhalators. Its tiresome work, but the police don't mind.

Early today Dr. Joseph Glassman, the physician on the case, said that Ross, the bigger and stronger of the twins, had a fair chance to live. He held out little hope for Roy, however, who weighed only two pounds at birth.

In all probability, according to Dr. Glassman, the crisis will be reached today—exactly one year from the day the parents lost their first pair of twins, Vera and Ellen, who succumbed to pneumonia.

Peter Barry, is a clerk and a carpenter who has been out of work for a year. He and his wife were hollow-eyed and sleepy almost to the point of collapse last night. But they weren't too tired to express thanks for the prayers of the neighbors. "Tell 'em we're grateful," said Peter Barry.

SYNOPSIS

Young and beautiful Stanley Paige loses her fortune through market speculation but a harder blow comes when her fiancé... the fascinating, irresponsible Drew Armitage... tells her it would be madness to marry on his income and leaves town. Penniless and broken-hearted, Stanley refuses to seek aid from her wealthy friends. Desiring to make her own way, Stanley drops out of her exclusive circle and rents a cheap furnished room. After a week of loneliness and trying to adapt herself to her poor surroundings, Stanley calls on Nigel Stern, one of her society friends, and asks his aid in securing a position. Nigel urges her to marry the handsome and wealthy young lawyer, Perry Deverest, who has loved her devotedly for years, but Stanley's heart is with Drew. Nigel suggests that she think it over, and then, if she still wants a position, he will try to place her.

CHAPTER NINETEEN

Stanley had been sitting for a long time on the park bench. There had been children in the Square when she first came, and families rating ice-cream cones and people waiting for busses, and more people sitting, reading the evening papers. But now it was quite dark and the children had gone home and the people had taken the busses and there was no longer any daylight to read by.

Here and there through the Square lovers sat close together, their arms and hands touching; here and there people who were no longer lovers sat and slept—or just sat, too tired to go home.

It was hot and still—with the heat hanging languidly, as it does when it is very dark and there is no wind and no promise of rain. Even in the darkness one knew that the trees and grass were scorched; that the painted benches were blistered, that everywhere dust lay thick and dry and motionless.

Stanley sat motionless, too, her hands folded one over the other. She had taken a bath, and dressed, and gone out to the corner drug store and climbed up on a high stool between a fat, cheerful, perspiring man, who was eating a hamburger sandwich and a mildly pretty little girl who was consuming a chocolate ice-cream soda. She had ordered food but the sight of the wilted lettuce and slice of over-ripe tomato had been too much for an already sick appetite, and so she had slid off the stool and come here.

Valerie had gone out with Jimmy Hunter—they had asked her to go along—now she wished that she had—but it had been so hot and she had been so tired.

Sitting here now in the dark, she went wearily over the four days which had passed since her afternoon at Nigel's. The relaxed mood in which she had left his studio had deserted her within a few hours and she had known almost at once that she would not go back or telephone to him. She tried to explain it to Valerie. "It's like this, Val—if I let him help me, get me this place in the art shop, it would mean that I would be seeing all of them again—Nigel, Dennis St. John, Perry, of course. I don't want to do that. I don't know why, exactly, but I don't. I'd rather find something for myself, work things out alone."

So each day since she had walked several miles in answer to advertisements Valerie marked the night before in the evening paper. Assistant in a beauty parlor, hostess in a tea room, attendant in a doctor's office, part-time governess for two English children, demonstrator for a new brand of coffee, filing

"You know, you might have called a cop or something. I suppose I took a rather long chance, speaking to you," he said.

clerk in a large department store—and each time she arrived too late or was turned away because of lack of experience or references.

Valerie was persistently optimistic. "Something is sure to turn up, but you've got to be patient. Don't expect to get it this week, or maybe next."

Stanley felt things would be infinitely easier when she had work to do. When one is physically tired out, one has to sleep. Between work and sleep she hoped to get through the next few months—beyond that she refused to go.

Every bit of her ached for Drew. She felt that if he had been in New York, she would have gone to him and begged him to come back to her. But he was not in New York. He was in Chicago. And in her heart she thanked God that this was so, and at the same time prayed that he might return, that he might speak to her over the telephone, that she might meet him in the street. Every tall, swinging figure seen at a distance robbed her of her breath and she sorted over the scanty mail on the hall table with trembling fingers.

But Drew did not come and he did not write and in her innermost soul she knew that this was good but her heart hungered for him—piteously, rebelliously, unceasingly. Even in her sleep she was never without a troubled consciousness of him—the ripple of hard muscle in his lean arms, the slanting planes of his dark cheeks, the husky note in his voice when he made love to her. She wondered if these things would ever dim, grow vague and fade away, if she would ever be able to push him into some dark, far corner of her mind, if he would ever become less a painfully distinct reality and more a half-forgotten memory. She thought not.

So intent she was upon her own thoughts that she was startled when out of the hot darkness someone spoke to her. "Excuse me, but you've been sitting here an awful long time and so have I. If you don't want me to talk to you, I won't but if you don't mind, I'd like to."

She looked up abruptly, noticed for the first time that she was not the sole occupant of the bench. In the darkness it was hard to tell much about him, except that he was young and thin and had a nice, rather shyly expectant sort of voice. "Why, no," she said slowly, frowning a little. "I don't mind. Especially, if you are willing to do the talking."

"Gosh, that's nice of you." He leaned toward her now and she saw his face quite clearly. It looked ridiculously relieved. "You know, you might have called a cop or something. I suppose I took a rather long chance, speaking to you, like that."

She considered him with amused, and suddenly interested eyes. There was something very young and pleasantly naive about this awkward young man who had an idea that girls spoken to in parks called cops to rescue them. She wondered a bit wearily why she was going to bother to be nice to him and knew that she was. Decided it was because she welcomed any diversion to her own thoughts.

She told him so. She said: "I didn't like what I was thinking about, but I couldn't stop to stop."

"I know." He bent his head to her eagerly, spoke impulsively, his words tumbling over one another in quick confusion. "That's what comes of being alone too much. I don't you think? You get all tangled up in your own thoughts and they're not always good company. But what can you do about it? Nothing."

"I guess you're right." She laughed a bit ruefully, glancing up at him sideways, liking the line of his profile beneath the pulled-down brim of his hat.

"I know I'm right. I've been alone for three months now—and well, it's made me desperate enough to speak to you anyhow."

"Did that take—so much courage?"

He laughed shortly. "It certainly did. You see I'm not the sort that picks up girls easily. I've always been clumsy about things like that—I still am!"

"Ingenuous, perhaps, but I wouldn't say clumsy. There's something nicely unexpected about you, I think I like it." Stanley spoke musingly, considering him with grave eyes.

"Then, I'm glad I'm like that." (To Be Continued)

Tendency to Gout May Be Hereditary

Authority Gives Some Facts About This Painful Disease

By ROYAL S. COPELAND, M.D.
United States senator from New York
Former Commissioner of Health,
New York City

NOTHING IS more amusing than the diary of the illustrious Samuel Pepys. From a medical point of view, it is interesting to note his frequent references to an affliction called gout.

Today, the number of victims of this disease in England, as well as in other countries, is greatly reduced. It is probable that this decrease is due to our advanced knowledge of food and nutrition.

Of course, gout is still encountered and we often hear of persons who are called "gouty." This expression is applied to those who are susceptible to gouty infections and pain in the joints. After eating foods rich in certain substances called "purines," the victim complains of pain in the joints, particularly in the joint of the big toe. This is due to excessive deposits of uric acid.

The gouty individual is a sufferer from constipation, indigestion, headache, restlessness and irritability. He is usually stricken to the middle of the night with the acute symptoms of gout. The involved joint becomes red, swollen, hot and extremely painful. The pain comes on suddenly, but may subside within a few hours, only to recur. With the attack, there may be fever, thirst and digestive disturbances, such as sickness at the stomach and vomiting.

Confused With Rheumatism

Many such attacks are confused with rheumatism, neuralgia or neuritis. But the pain of gout is severe in nature, coming in periodic attacks and usually involving the small joint of the body. In rheumatism, the pain is more chronic in its nature.

As told by Samuel Pepys, in his time gout was believed to be an incurable disease. Fortunately, times have changed; the disease can now be cured by careful regulation of the diet. This must contain foods which carry a minimum amount of uric acid. Those which form uric acid and which contain purines are prohibited. Meats, meat extracts, bouillon, sweet breads, kidneys and brains are types of foods which the victim of gout must avoid. In addition, starchy desserts, fried and greasy foods, alcohol, coffee and tea must be avoided. Every effort should be made to overcome the constipation and to correct all digestive disorders. Avoid overeating. Moderate eating at regular hours, with regular hours of sleep, exercise, bathing, an abundance of fresh air, sunshine, are a few suggestions to sufferers from gout.

Bear in mind that the disease is believed to be hereditary. Even though you are careful about your food, you may show some tendency towards this affliction. If you are the victim of repeated pains and aches in your joints, you must suspect gout. If in doubt, consult with your physician.

CALLS ALL-BRAN NATIONAL NATURAL LAXATIVE

Delicious Cereal Checked His Constipation

Here is an unsolicited letter from Mr. Daniels:

"For many years I have been habitually constipated, and have used all sorts of laxatives. So, in fairness to Kellogg's ALL-BRAN, I heartily claim it to be a most wonderful remedy for constipation."

"Need I tell you that I have long since ceased using laxatives? Kellogg's ALL-BRAN is the National Natural Laxative. If it were used by every family in the United States for breakfast, we would have a much healthier race of people."—Mr. John Daniels, 1000 Third St., North Bergen, N. J.

Tests show Kellogg's ALL-BRAN furnishes "bulk" to exercise the intestines and vitamin B to help tone the intestinal tract. ALL-BRAN also supplies iron for the blood.

The "bulk" in ALL-BRAN is much like that in leafy vegetables. Isn't this food much pleasanter than risk-taking pills and drugs? Two table-spoonfuls daily are usually sufficient. If not relieved this way, see your doctor.

When The Gas Goes Off—It's Front Page News!

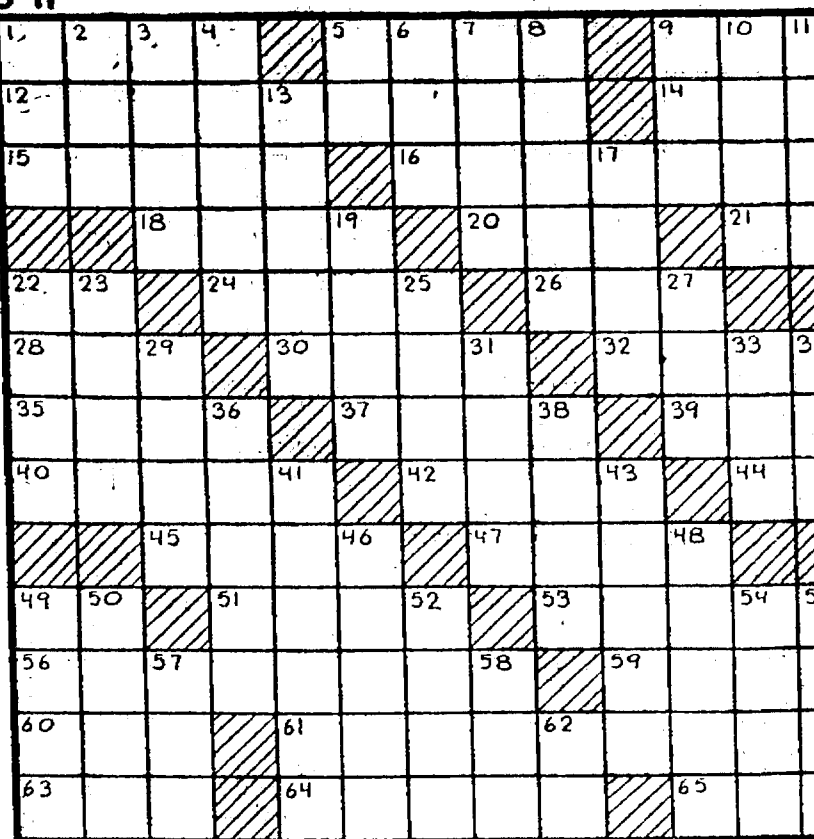

Once or twice a year you may read that some Ohio community -- of the hundreds that are served with gas -- has been deprived of gas service for a few hours, due to an accident to the lines. It's front page news in the town where it occurs, because it is quite probable that it never happened there before. What other form of fuel or power is as dependable as gas?

AT THE GRAND

Ken Maynard, "king of the cowboys," is coming back again to this theatre and this time in a dual role.

The picture is Universal's "Honor of the Range," in which Ken rides, fights, and does all sorts of acrobatics to save the honor of his brother and the name of his sweet heart.

You'll see the production here for two days, starting Friday at the Grand.

Coming to The Cliftona Theatre

Douglas Fairbanks, Jr. and Genevieve Tobin

AT THE CLIFTONA

Is the gangster who rules by machine gun more or a criminal than the so-called legitimate business man who gains wealth and power through trickery, deceit, evasion of the laws and bribery?

"Success At Any Price" strikes upon this vital and timely topic as a highlight of the RKO-Radio Picture with Douglas Fairbanks, Jr., Frank Morgan, Genevieve Tobin and Colleen Moore, which comes to the Cliftona, Saturday.

Fairbanks is seen as the brother of a gangster killed by machine gun fire. Bitter against society, he determines to win wealth and power at any cost—but he will keep the letter of the law on his side. Ruthlessly sweeping toward his goal, he gains control of a profitable business and rides to power over the trampled rights of others.

Romance figures strongly in the drama and plays its part in bringing the story to a sensational climax. Miss Moore, an office girl, and Miss Robin, a calculating luxury-mad beauty, oppose each other in their views in guiding Fairbanks to fame.

Frank Morgan, Edward Everett Horton, Nidia Westman, Allen Vincent and Henry Kolker are also seen in "Success At Any Price."

Trucks now handle 61 per cent of the hogs, 60 per cent of the calves, 46 per cent of the cattle, and 25 percent of the sheep on 17 markets. Along with this tendency to more trucking there follows increased transient losses, according to the Ohio Livestock Loss Prevention Association.

A few peach blossoms have appeared on some of the hardier varieties such as Champion, Rochester and Smith Haven. These varieties, however, make up only a small percentage of the trees in Ohio. Elberta and Hale are a failure this year.

From 1928 to 1934 numbers of all cattle—beef and dairy—increased in the United States from 57 millions to about 67 million. Dairy cattle numbers increased about 22 per cent, beef cattle numbers by a similar percentage.

Cash income from the sale of farm products in the United States is estimated at $408,000,000 for March compared to $275,000,000 for last March. Benefit and rental payments raise the estimate to $400,000,000.

PATTERN 9997

No woman however modest can keep out of print this summer. It just can't be done. If a crepe or cotton doesn't get you, a chiffon will. So better be prepared with the right pattern. Isn't this it? Did you ever see anything more charming for a sheer flowered texture than that yoke which flutters over the shoulders in little caplets and in the front in two tiny jabots? And aren't you impressed by the pretty girle that makes one so slim and appealing?

Pattern 9997 may be ordered only in sizes 14, 16, 18, 20, 32, 34, 36, 38, 40 and 42. Size 16 requires 3 1/2 yards 36 inch fabric.

Send FIFTY CENTS in coins or stamps (coins preferred) for EACH MARIAN MARTIN pattern. Be sure to write plainly your NAME, ADDRESS, the STYLE NUMBER and SIZE of each pattern.

A beautiful, complete collection of Summer Clothes is shown in the NEW SUMMER EDITION of the MARIAN MARTIN PATTERN BOOK. This book will help you plan a stunning vacation wardrobe. Clever beach ensembles, charming costumes for the garden, style suggestions for the Summer boudoir and her attendants and sun suits for children are among the special features. SEND FOR YOUR COPY TODAY. CENTS, BOOK AND PATTERN TOGETHER, TWENTY-FIVE CENTS.

at the American Hotel Coffee shoppe.

Artistically arranged baskets of American beauty roses and blue scabiosa decorated the room and centered the attractively appointed tables for the dinner. Covers were laid for thirty-four.

Following the dinner host Eddie Pritchard acted as toastmaster and enlivened the program with his clever remarks in introducing the various numbers.

The class will history and prophecy were given by members of the Junior class and toasts were given by seniors and faculty members.

The remainder of the evening was spent in cards and music.

TWO EX-CONVICTS

Taylor and Hopkins were believed to be Ohio ex-convicts.

None of the prisoners would talk when brought to jail here.

Following the arrest it was learned that federal agents had for the house under surveillance for several days following a tip that Dillinger and his lieutenant, John Haitton, were hiding there.

Late last night Taylor ran a red light in the Richmond business district and was chased by police but eluded them.

The officers then surrounded the suspects' house determined to round up the gang. Taylor was said to have showed up there and to have gone into the house at 5:30
a. m. today.

Police and federal agents clapped a censorship on news of the arrests. This led to reports that Dillinger himself had been apprehended.

Fingerprints of the prisoners and their Bertillon pictures were being taken by the police today.
